

In this Conversations With Healers solo episode,

- I am telling the myth of the descent of the Sumerian Goddess Inanna and how it relates to inner child healing (hint: this story will help you understand inner child healing on a deeper level than you ever have).
- I am also sharing the story of how inner child healing became a part of my healing work,
- a profound dream that confirmed what my soul work is (helping people see and activate the limitless potential of their inner children),
- and what you can expect to experience and realize when you choose to work with me to dive into the depths of your inner cosmos.
