

In this video, I am explaining how to begin to activate the infinite potentials of your inner children. What it takes is very simple and yet so complicated. What it takes is love. What it takes is realizing that you are a seed at every moment, for your next moment. What it takes is removing anything that doesn't nourish that seed, and creating the right conditions and making choices that does.

I am going on a mythical journey with 12 souls to dive into the unicorn sparkly magical land of their inner children, and to help them remove anything that is between them and shining their brightest.

Here's what has been giving me immense joy lately:

This amazing story of the healing powers of video games, resiliency, and finding what you love at any age.

This Hymn to Isis that was written from an ancient text found in Egypt (especially since I am going on a pilgrimage to Egypt in December ☐☐☐, I'll share more on that when I am ready. Let's just say there's soooo much to share!)

This book that prepares you for the spiritual journey for any sacred site visit or pilgrimage

This Tarot-art exhibit

This yummy salad

This yummy vegetable sauce

This healing tea (smells funky but tastes amazing!)

With love, light, and a lot of gratitude,
