When I first began to read chakras, I didn’t fully understand that I was looking at portals of life. Each chakra/portal opens a different level of vibration, physical expression, and a connection with your soul growth possibilities.

Your chakras provide a physical, archetypal, and symbolic map into current your struggles and challenges. They clearly show you where your life force as well as inner and outer circumstances can flow better. In a chakra reading, I intuitively assess your chakras to help you become aware of where your blockages might be. I also channel messages and guidance related to each chakra to give you a guidemap of how to move through your current karmic lessons.

Reading a chakra and assessing the health of it is only one dimension of any reading I do. I then tune into my and your soul helpers' deep guidance. I ask for messages for each and every chakra, and get the full picture of what you need to know and take action on.

Sometimes organs or systems of your body join the conversation. Sometimes we may focus on one chakra or a few of them a bit more than others. In all cases, these chakra readings are more like guide-maps for your continuing energetic and physical well-being.

When I see someone come to me with multiple chakras blocked, I know that it is usually due to one main chakra blockage. Your chakras are spinning vortices that take in and distribute energy. If one chakra is overworking, over time it gets tired. Other chakras around it begin to compensate by overworking, then also getting tired. Over time, all the overwork and overwhelm results in blocked or reaaally slowly rotating chakras.

If your chakras (your portals of life energy) aren't flowing properly, you will feel it in every aspect of your life. It will show up in your physical health, in your relationships, and in your career. It will create numbness or pain in your body. It will create a less-than-desired life experience.

Your chakras tell me your entire story. Without ever meeting you, your chakras can tell me what part of your life is your biggest struggle and what can help ease your struggle. Through our combined intention, we can reach into what your soul and soul guides want and need you to know for better flowing chakras.

"My Chakra Reading with Damla was focused, to the point, insightful, and I walked away with practical, doable tips to begin in my daily life. My intention was to receive insight and increased understanding and I received both. The experience felt very natural and comfortable. I felt seen and heard and held. Damla left me with actionable steps and with more understanding on the health of my chakras with the second and third chakra energetic wounds."
