

Your inner children aren't needy. They are your realized or mostly unrealized quantum potentials that are waiting for you to connect with them to be realized.

They may be hidden deep within. They may be tangled inside distortions, blocks, trauma, and years and years of neglect. Yet when you connect with them they are ready to shine right away.

They long and root for you to connect with them. However they don't need you. The truth is you need them. You need their infinite potentials. You need their love, beauty, wisdom, and magic. You need all that they have to remind you and teach you.

Your body has needs. Your inner children can be your quantum partners in showing you new, better, and exciting ways of meeting those needs and shining more than you ever did.

If you feel ready to dive into the shiny magical unicorn realm of your inner children, join me in this 8-week live online class , where I will guide you through a journey of self-discovery, re-connection, and activation of your relationship, purpose, and abundance potentials.

With love and gratitude,

Damla
